

Reds Agree To Peace Talks On Their Terms

Government Of Nationals Moves South

Nanking, Jan. 25—(AP)—China's Communists today agreed to a peace conference if the government knuckles to tough Red terms for surrender.

An hour after the Communists broadcast their offer, the foreign office announced that the seat of government was being moved out of Nanking. It will go south, probably to Canton.

There was no immediate indication the communist decision would halt the swift abandonment of the capital. Frantic thousands of citizens jammed trains and railway stations trying to get out.

Say Li Will Soon Follow

Some sources said President Li Tsung Jen probably soon would join the exodus to the south.

Official reaction to the Red offer was lacking. Li previously had accepted the Red terms, however, as a basis for opening peace talks. The communist terms call for the trial of "war criminals." And Li is on his list to be tried.

It was hoped that the communist offer would spare Nanking from bombardment. Powerful Red forces were moving almost unopposed to the Yangtze.

Latest reports said the Reds already had seized Kuachou, on the north bank opposite Chekiang, 40 miles east of Nanking. From there they can harass shipping with artillery or small arms fire.

Pukow Abandoned

Pukow, across the Yangtze from Nanking, was all but deserted of government defenders. An estimated 150,000 Red troops were moving on that railway city.

With the main force only a few miles away, Red vanguards were expected to enter Pukow almost at any moment. Then Nanking will be within easy artillery range.

The Red radio, as heard in Nanking, said the Communists were willing to talk peace at a conference in Peiping as soon as "the city is completely liberated."

(Associated Press Correspondent Spencer Moosa said in a dispatch from Peiping that the "new order" meaning the Communists—still was operating in the background "but this lessens none of its strength.")

The Communists scratched from the Nationalist list of five peace delegates the name of Peng Chao Hsien, minister of interior. They said Peng is a member of the extreme right wing of the Kuomintang.

The Red broadcast emphasized that its "war criminal" list still is incomplete. Then it declared any negotiations must be based on Communist Leader Mao Tse-tung's eight-point program.

The first point on Mao's list is the trial of all "war criminals." Among these are President Chiang Kai-shek, who has retired to his ancestral home of Fenghuang leaving Vice President Li in charge.

Other points call for uprooting of the new constitution and the Kuomintang government, confiscation of "bureaucratic" capital and the cancellation of treaties with the U. S. and other western powers.

Meanwhile, the foreign office sent official notices to the various embassies saying the government was moving south.

All In South By February

It gave no destination or timetable, but one official source said the movement would be completed about the middle of February. Canton, where many officials already are operating, was the likely site.

The notice was regarded as a new effort to persuade the diplomatic corps to follow the government. The embassies made no motions to move south when they were told Jan. 19 that a number of ministries were leaving Nanking.

Whether they would move now was a matter up to their governments. Many of them believe they should stay here to meet whatever regime arises. They also complain of lack of accommodations in Canton.

Many officials were predicting the government will be functioning in Canton before many more days pass. Only a handful of officials remain in Nanking now. Most official sources of information were closed.

Gets Slugged As He Averts Holdup

Peoria, Ill., Jan. 25—(AP)—A pawn shop operator was slugged with a pistol today when he grappled with a young holdup man. The youth fled without any loot.

William Moskovitz, 40, proprietor of the pawn shop, told police the youth entered his shop and said he wanted to pawn a coat. The youth then pulled a gun and Moskovitz grabbed at him. The gun went off and the bullet smashed into a show case. Then the youth hit him with the gun and fled.

Rescuers Rush To Save Snowbound Livestock

(By The Associated Press)

Planes, army bulldozers, trucks and foot parties were pressed into the battle to save snowbound western livestock Tuesday. The rescue operation was one of the most widespread of its kind ever undertaken.

Meanwhile, new cold, snow, sleet and floods hit various sections in the western half of the country.

In Washington, a senate committee approved a $750,000 emergency fund to finance rescue work in Nevada, Utah, Wyoming, South Dakota and sections of North Dakota and Montana. The South Dakota legislature considered a $100,000 special disaster fund.

The army readied three bulldozers at Omaha after Gov. Val Peterson reported state funds were exhausted and that the situation was "out of hand."

A thick blanket of snow that trapped more than a hundred thousand range cattle and more than a million sheep extended from western California to the Dakotas.

With winter continuing its January rampage temperatures skidded to more than 40 below zero in parts of Wyoming and Montana. Carlin Nev., claimed an unofficial -37 as the coldest spot in the nation. Reno, Nev., had -15.

The coldest weather of the winter also crippled the northwest. The mercury dipped to -22 in Omak and Moses Lake, Wash., and -25 at Baker, Ore. Meanwhile, Nome, Alaska, had a comparatively mild 15 above. Six deaths were blamed directly or indirectly on the cold in eastern Washington during the past few days. Snow caused many rural schools to close intermittently. The 25th consecutive day of sub-freezing weather in Portland tied a record set in 1883.

Other low temperatures recorded in the frigid belt: Stanley, Idaho, -51; Bozeman, Mont., -43; Big Piney, Wyo., -43; Belgrade, Mont., -42; Butte, Mont., -38; Elko, Nev., -38; Salt Lake City, -7 Denver, -9.

The most severe snow storms since 1895 blanketed northern Arizona and her new snow swept into southern California and Nevada. At Flagstaff, Ariz., the snowfall this month had totaled 100.4 inches. Since Sunday morning, 39.1 inches has fallen and 67 inches remains on the ground.

Freezing mist covered St. Louis with a glaze of ice that virtually halted all traffic. Thousands were late for work with buses and streetcars running far off schedule. Schools, with attendance less than 50 per cent, closed at noon. Because so many brokers were absent, no trading took place in the first hour of the St. Louis stock exchange.

Chicago, Jan. 25—(AP)—Wholesale life tests may follow last night's unsuccessful showup of 117 policemen, staged in an attempt to solve a $402 theft complaint, police commissioner John C. Prendergast said today.

The entire personnel of the West North Avenue Police station was lined up and viewed by Reinhold Gierke, 36, who claimed the money was taken from his wallet while it was impounded at the station Sept. 18.

Gierke sought to identify a man who, he said, later returned $302 to him. Gierke said none of the policemen looked like the man.

Mayor Martin H. Kennelly has ordered commissioner Prendergast to make a personal report on the outcome of the case.

"I'm not satisfied with the investigation so far. I want to get to the bottom of the matter—and soon," Prendergast told reporters.

Potter, Former Head Of Elgin Watch Co., Dies

Elgin, Ill., Jan. 25—(AP)—T. Albert Potter, 65, widely known watch manufacturer, died last night in a Philadelphia hospital.

Potter was chairman of the Elgin National Watch company, having retired as president of the firm a year ago after 16 years. He was active in the efforts of domestic watchmakers to obtain more favorable reciprocal trade treaties against importation of foreign-made watches.

Potter was born in Germany June 18, 1883, of American parents. He began his business career with the Quaker Oats company in New York City in 1906. He became president of the watch firm in 1932. He formerly was president of the Illinois Manufacturers association.

Potter, en route to Washington for State department conferences, had stopped in Philadelphia to visit a sister when he was stricken.

Surviving are his widow, Mrs. Eleanor Horn Potter; two sons, Thomas A., Jr., and Gordon, and a daughter, Joan, all of Lake Forest. Funeral arrangements are incomplete.

Pepper, Morse Ask For Filibuster Ban

Washington, Jan. 25—(AP)—Two senators spoke out today against the present senate rules which permit unlimited debate. One of them, Senator Morse (R-Ore.) said that such filibustering could endanger the national defense.

Senator Pepper (D-Fla.) also testified before the Senate rules committee in favor of outlawing the filibuster.

Morse called the committee's attention to a filibuster against the peace time draft last year. It was conducted by Senator Glen (Cov.) Taylor, maverick Democrat from Idaho who ran for vice president last fall on the Progressive ticket. Morse did not mention Taylor by name.

Scattered were his words, "I was a British soldier," he once said. "I left my home in Sheffield (England) and saw the world at the expense of the crown. I fought in the Boer War, and I was in on the capture of Khartoum. And now I'm a philosopher—the little man's Socrares."

Shaw was a member of the Chicago Druidical society. And that group, headed by the Kid's pal and fellow orator, Jack Sheridan, staged his wake tonight.

Serves 600-1000 Eviction Notices To Protest Bills

Tulsa, Okla., Jan. 25—(AP)—The Rev. Wallace J. Murphy, executive secretary of the Tulsa property owners association, said between 600 and 1000 eviction notices will be sent to tenants tonight.

Murphy said the action will be a protest to two rent controls he said were before congress and which he termed "intolerable."

The minister, who is honorary president of the property owners association of America, said members of the association's affiliates in 20 other cities had been asked to take similar action.

These, he said, included Chicago, Kansas City, Mo., Houston and San Antonio, Tex., Detroit, St. Louis, Fort Wayne, Ind., Grand Rapids, Mich., and Danville, Ill.

'Axis Sally' Cries As Her Lawyer Tells Her Story

Washington, Jan. 25—(AP)—Nazi Germany's "Axis Sally," 48-year-old Mildred E. Gillars, wept at her treason trial today as defense counsel contended that she came under the "hypnotic influence" of a German official in wartime Berlin.

If convicted, the Maine-born defendant faces a possible maximum penalty of death in the electric chair.

The government pictured her to the jury as a traitress who served Hitler's Germany by telling radio listeners that World War II was a conflict of "Jews against Gentiles."

Then Defense Attorney James J. Laughlin arose to describe Miss Gillars as basically a good woman who fell under the hypnotic spell of Dr. Max Otto Koischwitz after she went to Berlin.

Laughlin contended that Mr. Koischwitz swayed her to follow the Nazi viewpoint and that she lived in day-and-night fear of her life from the German Gestapo.

At that point, Miss Gillars daubed her eyes.

Six Germans Die In British Airlift Plane Disaster

Berlin, Jan. 25—(AP)—Six Germans, including two children, and a British flier were killed last night in the crash of a British airlift plane removing a group of Berliners to the western zones, the British announced today.

Two British fliers and 16 other Germans were injured.

The plane, a twin-engine transport carrying children and sickly persons out of blockaded western Berlin for the winter, plunged to earth near Schoenberg, in the Russian occupation zone. The injured are in the Schoenberg hospital.

The British obtained their information on the casualties from Soviet authorities in the allied air safety center here.

An RAF official in Hamburg said the Russians turned back tonight an air force salvage party bound for the crash scene. Earlier the Russians had told the RAF they would waive all formalities to let a party through to care for the crash victims and salvage the plane wreckage. This group was to consist of a medical officer, a nurse, a WAAF sergeant, an interpreter, two officers and nine airmen.

Soap Box Society Plans Last Rites For Fellow Orator

Chicago, Jan. 25—(AP)—Soap Box society in the Bughouse Square neighborhood scribbled and scratched tonight to give the Cosmic Kid a worthy send-off.

The Kid, who died Saturday night, was for 15 years, more or less, a stellar open air orator in the North Side Square known for its corps of free and easy lecturers.

Few knew his real name, which was Hubert William Shaw, nor his age, 76. But most who have heard him learned first hand that the Kid had a varied and colorful past.

"I was a British soldier," he once said. "I left my home in Sheffield (England) and saw the world at the expense of the crown. I fought in the Boer War, and I was in on the capture of Khartoum. And now I'm a philosopher—the little man's Socrares."

Judge Rules Young Mother Who Killed Baby Be Sterilized

Los Angeles, Jan. 25—(AP)—In a rare court action, a superior judge today ordered the sterilization of a young mother who pleaded guilty to manslaughter in the fatal skull-crushing of her baby boy.

The judge, who said the mother had offered to submit to a sterilization operation, also ordered the adoption of her other son and of an unborn child.

Mrs. Gerorgette Brucks, 21-year-old expectant mother, had first been charged last October with murdering her son, Howard, seven months. The baby was badly beaten about the entire body and his skull fractured. His mother told police that she beat the child because she "couldn't stand his crying."

She said she "lost my mind" and kept pounding him with my fist.

The charge later was reduced to manslaughter when an autopsy showed the immediate cause of the baby's death was pneumonia, the beating a contributing factor.

Superior Judge Thomas L. Ambrose deprived Mrs. Brucks of all rights of motherhood as the price of her probation. He gave her a suspended sentence of one to ten years in prison and placed her on probation for six years. She must spend the first six months of her probation in the county jail, surrender her 20-month-old son, Donald, and her expected baby for adoption and also submit to a sterilization operation.

State Legislature Receives Plans For Sharing Taxes

Springfield, Ill., Jan. 25—(AP)—A sales tax diversion plan and a proposal aimed at breaking up downstate control of the Illinois legislature in 1951 were submitted today by two Chicago Democratic lawmakers.

Senator Roland V. Libonati brought in a measure to dish out more than $70,000,000 in state sales tax revenue to cities and schools.

Schools would get one-fourth of the tax proceeds—or about $1,000,000 based on 1948 receipts of $167,000,000.

A smaller share, amounting to more than $20,000,000, would go to cities. They could use it only for firemen and policemen salaries, and money left over after the salaries were paid would be returned by cities to the state treasury.

Neither Libonati's bill, nor one by Rep. Arthur M. Kaindl to give Cook county a majority in the Illinois House, carried Governor Stevenson's endorsement. Both measures were referred to committees.

Truman To Insist On 'Mandatory Powers' To Help Curb Inflation

Washington, Jan. 25—(AP)—The administration stuck to its insistence today for "mandatory" anti-inflation powers as it pressed congress today for a stop-gap extension of the G.O.P.'s voluntary controls.

Secretary of Commerce Sawyer spearheaded the new drive to win Capitol Hill approval of President Truman's broad economic program which includes his oft-repeated requests for "mandatory" authority to put clamps on such things as credit, rents, exports and scarce commodities.

Sawyer told a Senate banking subcommittee the administration soon will ask "mandatory" powers over distribution of steel and other essential goods in short supply. Until Mr. Truman's "broader economic program" has been detailed, he said a "temporary" extension becomes necessary to keep the present program on a going basis.

The so-called voluntary allocation agreement program is due to expire February 28. It was enacted by the Republican-controlled 80th Congress as a substitute for Mr. Truman's proposal for government-enforced rationing. Under this plan industries which agreed to set up their own rationing system were exempt from certain anti-trust laws.

Committee members questioned Sawyer at length on the operations of the steel industry's self-rationing, successful thus far in overcoming many of the problems.

At the same time he predicted a shortage this year of 7,000,000 tons of finished steel products.

"If we get mandatory powers," he said, the present steel supply system will be revised to correct flaws reported by the senators.

That was Sawyer's reply to a suggestion from Senator Tobey (R-NH) that commerce department officials "put some real teeth" into the voluntary plan.

Senator Robertson (D-Va.), for example, said that some small firms "have to pay a premium price to get their goods."

And Senator Sparkman (D-Ala.) read letters from small businessmen who make cast iron soil pipe for the building industry, protesting that most pig iron "went to the big boys."

Sawyer conceded that the voluntary system is "not the complete solution to our stabilization problems." But he added that it "has been successful."

Commission Agrees To Recommend Tax Hike On Gasoline

Springfield, Ill., Jan. 25—(AP)—The Illinois highway and traffic problems commission today agreed to recommend a two cents increase in the state's three cents a gallon gasoline tax.

After the proposal was approved by a 10 to 6 vote, rural and city commission members immediately got into an argument as to how the revenue should be distributed. But no agreement was reached.

Senator William Connors (D-Chicago) made the motion to increase the tax two cents. He said the gasoline tax was the "heart" of the commission's program.

Connors said the boost was necessary if enough revenue is to be raised to support a long range roads program. The commission is charged with mapping such a program for presentation to the legislature.

The two cents increase proposal would bring the state an estimated $30,000,000 annually in additional motor fuel tax revenue. This tax brought in a net of approximately $47,000,000 in 1948.

The writ of habeas corpus was issued by Judge Fitzgibbon, who assured the physician's attorney that he would be given four days to present his arguments against the return of Dr. Rutledge to Iowa on an extradition warrant.

A hearing on the fugitive warrant against the physician will start tomorrow before Judge Fitzgibbon.

Plane Is Talked Down During Fog

Chicago, Jan. 25—(AP)—An American Airlines DC-6 with 37 persons aboard was "talked down" during fog today, the first ground control approach landing made here by a commercial airliner.

The big four-engine plane, flying from New York to Chicago, landed at Glenview Naval Air Station. It was unable to land at the Municipal airport because of a fog and so went to Glenview, where fog is usually not so dense because there is little industrial smoke.

Five Allies To Aid USSR In Program

Moscow, Jan. 25—(AP)—The new Economic Council of Mutual Assistance organized by Russia and five of her neighbors was viewed by foreign diplomats here today as the East's answer to the West's European Recovery Program.

Bulgaria, Hungary, Poland, Czechoslovakia and Romania joined Russia in forming ECMA at a Moscow conference earlier this month.

The formation of the council was announced today, with the aim: "the exchange of experience in the economic field, the rendering of technical assistance to each other, and the rendering of mutual assistance in regard to raw material, food stuffs, machinery, equipment, etc."

Russia is Key Nation

Russia, with her vast resources, is obviously going to be the key nation in the council.

(There is no indication, however, that Russia intends to send rubles into the economy of her associates as the United States has sent dollars to western Europe to speed recovery. Two-way trade agreements have linked members of the Soviet bloc since the end of the war. Its common front, a communist political grouping of the bloc, has been quaking for the ERP since October, 1947. British diplomats said they do not expect any major shift in eastern European trade policies to result from ECMA.)

Other countries to Europe that share the principles of the council and wish to participate in broad economic cooperation with the aforementioned countries may join, it was announced.

Say U. S. Boycotting Them

Of the council's principles defined, one of the foremost was a declaration that the United States, Britain and "certain other countries of western Europe" are boycotting the six nations in trade.

Another was that the ERP, or Marshall plan, interfered with the sovereignty of nations.

To become a member of ECMA then, an applying country must at least view ERP and the present economic policy of the United States and Britain as they are regarded by the council.

Diplomats speculate that Albania and Finland, the Soviet-occupied sector of Germany and the Soviet-occupied sector of Austria may apply.

The fact Yugoslavia was not among the organizing nations was still another step in the isolation of Premier Marshal Tito's nation from other eastern European countries in the last six months. Cut off politically by the Cominform's denunciation of Tito and his aides, Yugoslavia is now all but cut off economically.

Cut Off Trade

The Soviet Union still has a trade agreement with Yugoslavia, but it was curtailed seven-eighths in 1949 because of what the Russians described as "the unfriendliness of the Yugoslav government."

The announcement did not say that nations now members of the Marshall plan program would be barred from ECMA membership. But it was obvious that any countries seeking to join the council first would be obliged to renounce Marshall plan aid.

The Soviet minister of foreign trade, A. I. Mikoyan, is destined to play an important role in the council's work.

A curly-haired American, Mikoyan is regarded as one of the best economic thinkers in the Soviet Union. He has taken part in talks on all trade agreements which the Soviet Union has made with the other five members of ECMA.

Nothing official was announced when ECMA will hold its first business meeting or where, but there were indications this will be soon. Inasmuch as ECMA was formed in Moscow, the first session may be held here. If alphabetical order was followed, the first would be held in Bulgaria.

VITAL QUESTIONS HINGE ON OUTCOME OF COMMIE TRIALS

How much can American attitudes and policies change within the unchanged framework of the United States Constitution? That question underlies the trial of 11 members of the Communist Party's national board in a New York Federal Court. It underlies the confused status of the party in this country. The issues of the case affect not only the defendants but all of us.

Democracy and communism fought the war as allies and emerged as enemies. The United States and Russia, chief representatives of democracy and communism, are now the world's greatest powers. Russia's present strength and expansionist policies have put communism in a different light. Before the war it was little more than a nuisance, an affront, or a bore to most Americans. Now it is a potential threat to our free institutions.

Yet its outward aspects in this country have not changed noticeably. Its party officials are in court on a charge of conspiring to teach and advocate the overthrow of the government by force and violence. But that charge could have been brought against American Communist leaders at any time during the party's 30-year existence here.

The men on trial are not charged with any overt act. Nothing has been said about their being on the verge of committing any act of force or violence when they were arrested. They are accused of conspiring to teach and advocate such acts.

These men were indicted for violation of the Smith Act of 1940. This law has been invoked twice before. In 1941 a group of Trotskyites, left-wing arch-enemies of the Communists, were convicted under it. And in 1942-43 a number of alleged pro-Nazi seditionists were tried in Washington.

On both those occasions the American Communists were loudly enthusiastic about the Smith Act. Now, of course, the mildest thing they can call it is unconstitutional. That is typical—and disgusting. Even more disgusting are the outraged courtroom complaints of these champions of a type of justice represented by the typical Communist "purge" trial.

But the fact remains that these men, like any other American citizens, will be tried under the full protection of the Constitution. And it will be with that protection in mind that the ultimate decision is reached.

Does the Constitution's right of free speech include the right to advocate the destruction of the Constitution—provided the talk is not translated into action? Is the right of free press similarly inclusive? What is the definition of "conspiracy" to teach and advocate? In short, are treasonable thoughts and speech unlawful acts?

These are not easy questions to answer honestly. But they must have honest answers, even though the domestic enemies of freedom are undeserving of the protection they receive. For this trial demands the answers to two still unsettled questions: Should communism be outlawed? And if it is outlawed will the Communist Party be destroyed, or will it only be driven underground and made doubly dangerous?

Rheumatic Pains Yield To Rentox, Says Decatur Lady

"I will recommend Rentox to anyone," says Mrs. A. H. Miller, 1063 W. Main St., Decatur.

"I have suffered for over three years with rheumatic pains to such an extent that I could hardly get down stairs. I often like to take the lawn and it was almost impossible to do because my joints ached so badly. I have also suffered from constipation and dizzy spells so when I heard of Rentox I got a bottle and to my amazement after taking the first bottle I was no longer constipated, my dizziness had gone and the aches in my arms, back and legs were relieved. I am now taking my second bottle and my rheumatic pains are completely gone. I feel like a new person and can get up every morning with no effort. My mother says that she notices that I have so much more pep and vitality. After reading the ingredients on the bottle, I knew it was just what I needed. I now get a good night's sleep and can do my housework with ease."

Why do so many people endorse this great medicine? Well, perhaps it is because they are grateful to have found a medicine that is just what they needed. Hundreds of people are finding out daily that this great medicine containing 26 splendid ingredients of herbs and other medicinal is just the medicine that they need for the relief of rheumatic ailments, gas indigestion, run down feeling. Helps to build rich red blood too. Relieves kidney and bladder conditions.

Why not start on the road to better health today? Go to your druggist and get a bottle of Rentox Compound. Accept no substitutes, don't be switched to another product, insist upon genuine Rentox.

Fair Memberships To Be Sold In County

The membership campaign of the Morgan County Agricultural Fair Association moved into the rural area for the second phase of the drive at a meeting held Monday evening in Farm Bureau hall. Invited to attend this meeting were two representatives from every township in the county. Farm bureau directors were responsible for the organization of the meeting.

F. H. Garlich, county farm adviser, told those present that the Farm Bureau Board had called this session following a recent meeting with the Fair Association officials to assist in the membership drive now in progress. He introduced Claude Gustine, Association chairman, who outlined plans for use of the Fair grounds during the coming years.

Follow 10 Year Plan

Mr. Gustine stated that the Association is just starting on a ten year plan for development of the grounds. The ultimate goal calls for 1,000 individual memberships from all over the Jacksonville and Morgan County area, and eventual beautification, building and grading program on the grounds to make the property the beauty spot and activity center for this whole area.

"The first step now in progress," Mr. Gustine said, "calls for only forty thousand dollars or four hundred memberships, of which one hundred and sixty are expected to come from the rural area and two hundred and forty from Jacksonville. This will enable us to get started on our first essential steps."

The membership campaign which started only ten days ago in the city has so far netted a total of 168 memberships, of which 23 are from the rural area. This gives the county division a start of about 14% on the quota of 160 memberships even before the drive in the rural areas has officially begun.

Those present at the Monday evening meeting expressed satisfaction with the plan of spreading the membership to many people, and to all parts of the county. Much interest was also expressed in the plan to renew the former county Fair if interest demanded, and in a possible pavilion for use of livestock shows, pure bred sales and other activities that are so important to present day farming operations.

Memberships $100 Each

It was pointed out that memberships in the Association were to be sold for $100 each. This amount can be paid in cash or as desired over a 2 year period. The memberships are non-assessable, and non-liability incurring, and are transferable through the Board of Directors. No one individual or firm may hold more than 10 memberships in their name. The plan is devised to give Fair grounds control to many rather than centered with a few. Projects with Farm Bureau, or 4-H approval were mentioned as having first approval by the present board. Other groups that have or will use the grounds include schools, colleges, lodges, churches, service clubs and other community groups.

First report date for the County group was set as Saturday, January 29, in the Farm Bureau office. Present at Monday's meeting were: Earl Hembrugh, 14-10; John U. Becker, 14-19; John Luby, 15-8; Harold Cockins, 15-8; John Eilers, 16-8; Richard Houston, 16-8; John W. Flinn, 16-8; Mr. and Mrs. Walter Roach, 16-10; Albert Neinhiser, 16-12; Miller Ober, 16-12; Ryman Souy, New Berlin; Herman J. Brown, Waverly; George Duewer & Sons, Waverly; Delbert Aufdenkamp, Chapin; Warren Smith, Chapin; H. Garlich, and E. N. Osborne, C. C. Gustine and R. K. Baker.

Henry E. Busche, conductor of the MacMurray College choir and concert band, and instructor of public school music and wind instruments, is the general chairman of the band festival. Chairman of the program is James Welch, director of the Jacksonville High School band and instructor of band instruments.

The purpose of such a band festival or clinic as this is to allow a time for the superior high school musicians within a radius of 75 miles of Jacksonville to assemble in a joint session for rehearsal of some of the better band literature and to present a concert as a culmination of their efforts. The festival day is intended to be an incentive for school musicians. Last year 120 student musicians representing twenty-two high schools took part in this major musical event.

Special classes in twining will be conducted by Miss Helen Forsee from Booneville, Mo., a student at MacMurray College. She is the winner of many prizes and awards in twining and will consider the problems of technique involved in the development of a skillful baton twirler.

Miss Valera Berry, a senior music student and student director of the college band is in charge of registration and publicity and Miss Charlyne Koch, a junior music student is chairman of all campus arrangements. The festival band will rehearse for two hours in both the morning and afternoon. The college band will furnish entertainment for the guests. A program of games and dancing is being planned to enable the students to become acquainted and a tour of the college campus will be featured also.

Beware of Romance

XXXIV

MERRY had been a little uneasy about Susan's reaction to her return to Marshallville. But Susan seemed reconciled, even content. Her letters were cheerful and recounted her routine activities; she and Carter seemed to be living a full and busy life, at least by their own standards.

"I don't get it," Merry admitted frankly one afternoon when she had read Susan's latest letter aloud to Aunt Jane. "She fretted herself sick while I was in New York, and I thought that she was lonely for me. But I'm away from her now and she doesn't seem to care a bit."

Aunt Jane grinned. "You don't get it? Child, it's as plain as a pike-staff," said Aunt Jane dryly. "When you were in New York, you were with Kin and Lissa. And Susan was just plain, old-fashioned jealous."

Merry nodded ruefully. "You know, Aunt Jane, it's funny, but I honestly believe Mother is happier with Carter than she ever was with Dad!" she said impulsively.

Aunt Jane's thick eyebrows went up a little.

"You don't mean you've finally come to that conclusion? I knew it from the first," she declared. "I think having a second romance in her life has restored Susan's youth. She married Kin when they were both a couple of kids, before she knew what romance really was. Then when the break-up came, she felt old and worn out and fearfully abused. And then Carter came along and wooed her as though she'd been a young girl, and she got a terrific kick out of it."

Startled, Merry stared at her. "And Kin and Lissa seem ideally suited to each other," she said slowly, unwillingly.

Aunt Jane nodded. "Kin and Susan had grown away from each other. They no longer had anything in common. Naturally, they rubbed each other the wrong way. I'd say the best thing that ever happened to either of them was that break-up you've been deploring for so long."

It was a new thought and Merry wasn't any too sure that she liked it. After a long, thoughtful moment she spoke again, and Aunt Jane was wise enough and shrewd enough to realize that she was not changing the subject.

"Aunt Jane, I met a man in New York," Merry found her words slowly, with difficulty. "He's terribly attractive and I liked him a lot. He said he was in love with me and he wanted to marry me, but he said, 'If it doesn't work out, there's always Reno.'"

Aunt Jane nodded thoughtfully. "Honest, at any rate," she contributed, and waited.

Fuzzled, Merry asked, "You don't think it's wrong to get married with that thought in the back of your head, Aunt Jane?"

"Merry, darling, I long ago gave up deciding what was 'wrong' and what was 'right' for other people," said Aunt Jane quietly. "People have to decide such things for themselves. If two people are head over heels in love, I suppose it's perfectly natural for them to be quite convinced that it's going to last a lifetime."

"Mike didn't," Merry flushed. "His mother has been married five—or maybe six times."

Aunt Jane drew a deep breath and blinked.

"Then it's a wonder to me this Mike didn't scream with rage and take to the tall timber at the very word 'marriage.' It's a thousand wonders he'd even let the word pass his lips. Good grief, no wonder the man said, 'Marry me, and if it doesn't work out, there's always Reno.'"

Merry was still for a moment, and then she looked straight at Aunt Jane, her eyes grave, probing.

"Then you wouldn't consider him a very good risk for marriage, would you, Aunt Jane?"

AUNT JANE hesitated for a moment, and never in her life had she prayed for the right answer as she prayed for it now. And when she spoke at last her voice was warm, tender with affection.

"Darling, you're not quite 18," she said very gently. "I think that it will be at least a couple of years before I'd consider any man a good risk for marriage for you. You're just a little girl, Merry, suffering from growing pains. Take time out to get over that before you plunge into getting married, won't you?"

A swift, relieved smile crossed Merry's face and she jumped up and hugged Aunt Jane.

"Of course, angel. You're right. Here I sit moiling and gibbering about getting married, when I've all the time in the world. Isn't that silly of me? You'd think, wouldn't you, the way I'm carrying on, if I wasn't married by next Friday afternoon at half-past two, the world would come to an end for me? Let's skip it, angel, and go transplant those snapdragons that are fighting for more space to grow in."

"Let's, by all means," agreed Aunt Jane heartily, relieved that Merry was willing to dismiss a subject that was beginning to trouble Aunt Jane almost as much as it had previously been puzzling Merry.

Butter-nut BREAD'S GOOD IDEAS

KITCHEN TRICK
FOR A TASTY meat garnish, fill canned pear halves with mincemeat, broil until thoroughly heated. Rounds of cranberry sauce are good, too.

HOUSEHOLD HINT
USE KITCHEN tongs to turn fried chicken, broiled meats. They give a firm hold without jarring meat and losing juices.

RECIPE
CLAM PIE
2 c. cooked macaroni 2 Tbsp. minced onion
1 c. minced clams and 1 c. grated cheese
(juice canned) salt and pepper
1 1/2 c. medium white sauce

Place alternate layers of macaroni, clams, onion and cheese in well greased casserole. Save some cheese for top. Season each layer with salt and pepper. Mix white sauce with clam liquid, pour over mixture in casserole. Top with rest of cheese. Bake in moderate oven (350°) about 40 minutes. Serves 6.

QUALITY GUIDE
LOOK FOR the blue and white checked gingham wrapper. It's a sure guide to good bread—good BUTTER-NUT Bread, of course. Butter-nut is tops in flavor, freshness and nutrition. Buy a loaf at your grocer's.

Lou Boudreau Gets Huge Salary Boost, New 2 Year Contract

Cleveland, Jan. 25.—(AP)—The Cleveland Indians gave Manager Lou Boudreau a huge salary boost today which will make him one of the year's top money men in baseball.

Just what the 31-year-old shortstop will receive under the two-year contract was speculative, however. Tribe President Bill Veeck said he would be "one of the highest paid players in baseball history" and declined to discuss it further.

Estimates from observers ranged from $65,000 to $75,000 a year. Previously, it had been reported he would get about $80,000 and make even more this year than the Indian fireballer, Bob Feller.

Feller received approximately $82,000 last year for an all-time high in baseball, but is expected to take a cut of some $10,000 this season. He will confer with Veeck tomorrow.

Boudreau's agreement is a straight salary contract with no attendance bonuses attached. Veeck said it gave him a "very considerable increase" over his estimated earnings of $52,000 last year and was "by far the largest straight salary ever offered by the club."

"This contract should have been signed in red ink," fussy-haired Veeck cracked. "Not because we expect to lose good money, but because Lou is taking a good bit of my blood."

He added, however: "I'm enjoying the operation."

Boudreau was voted the most valuable player in the American league last season by the national baseball writers. He hit .355, finishing second to Boston's Williams in the league batting race.

His old contract had still another year to run, but Veeck said that because of what the hand-some Frenchman did in leading the club to the world championship "he is entitled to be one of the highest paid men in the game."

This marked a tremendous personal triumph for Boudreau, whom Veeck attempted to trade to the St. Louis Browns after the 1947 season.

The club president gave up the plan when the Browns hesitated and Cleveland fans raised a tremendous protest.

"Lou was determined to prove I

ISD Graders Gain 41 To 27 Win From Waverly

The ISD grade school five annexed a 41 to 27 win from the Waverly kid cagers at Waverly Monday evening.

The local second string five also trounced the Waverly seconds in the preliminary. The ISD reserves took this fracas by a 24 to 12 margin.

Refuse To Let Sox Waive Tony Lupien Out Of Majors

Springfield, Vt., Jan. 25.—(AP)—It is "wonderful news" for Harvard-bred Tony Lupien that both the Detroit Tigers and Cleveland Indians have refused to permit the Chicago White Sox to waive him out of the American League.

"All I ask is a chance to stay in the big league as long as possible," said the 32-year old first baseman who was reclaimed from the Hollywood Pacific Coast league by the Chicago Sox in 1947.

"I'll go back to the minors only on one condition," he continued. "If Detroit or Cleveland want to send me down to prepare myself for an executive post in their organizations, I'll go. Otherwise it's not worth it. I'm not going to sacrifice my family just to play minor league ball."

Lupien, father of three operates a laundry here.

Bob Kraushaar's Merris basketball squad takes a jaunt to Kincaid tonight for a hoop bout with the Ponies. This will be Stan Spotts next to last hardwood performance for the local high school and he'll bow out with an athletic record accrued in prep school that any athlete should be proud to own.

The Feitshans fray here Friday night will mark his last appearance in Clifton colors, since he'll graduate the end of the month.

Basketball is just beginning to hit its mid-season peak, but already basecall officials, both big time and small time, are getting the fever to be off with the 49 diamond. Heinie Sommers, local promoter for amateur nines, has informed us that the Jacksonville Moose Club is making tentative steps towards furthering the sport in this city during the coming Spring and Summer months.

A group of some 20 businessmen met Sunday to talk over plans for forming both a Junior and Senior baseball league in this and surrounding communities. The group will meet again Feb. 7, 3 p.m. at the White Front Cafe on So. Sandy, and they extend an invitation to small-town managers and players in this vicinity to toss their bids in the hat for an entry in one of these leagues.

Mail your entries to Heinie, in care of Moose Hall, Jacksonville. The loop will go under the name of the Valley League, and will be headed by a baseball commission.

Spike Wilson's cagers took a 41 to 37 decision from the Franklin aggregation on the westend floor Saturday afternoon. The Franklin lads had tilted the Wilmonsen 32 to 31 in the local quintos opener previously this winter.

Howard Lester's Winchester Wildcats, one of the top cage crews in this vicinity has been selected to event at Aurora, Illinois, Feb. 1, play in the Annual March of Dimes. They will meet the Amboy high school quint in the second game of a double-header. Bill Lashmet, for Winchester athlete, and a graduate of the University of Illinois, is an assistant coach at the Amboy school.

We missed the boat in picking the Winchester tourney this year. The one consolation we have is that we weren't alone in selecting the Wildcats to cop their own meet — how can so many people be wrong? Scott county crew has now fallen victim to the Rushville lads in two successive encounters, and we're looking forward to when, and if, the quint meets in the Pittsfield sectional. We don't believe that Rushville can pull a repeat twice in a row—when two teams are so evenly matched, it's inevitable that the losing half of the combo won't take a beating every time.

We're going to forget about the ones we've missed and look to the upcoming PMBC tourney—to prove we can still pick 'em once in a while.

PMBC officials tell us that four trophies will be presented at this year's meet. Awards will be given to the first, second and third place teams, with a trophy also going to the team displaying the best sportsmanship. Our headquarters will be at I.S.D. this week!

Last Minute Drive Gives ISD Nod Over Fast Meredosia Five

Games Tonight
Routt vs. Bluffs, 7:15 p.m.
Chambersburg vs. Chapin, 8:30 p.m.

Despite the driving sleet and snow that threatened to keep away the majority of hardwood fans, the annual PMBC tourney got underway at ISD last night with the favorites lowering the boom on the underdog quint in both contests.

Mt. Sterling Down Perry

The curtain-raiser event found the number-one rated team in the meet going against the Perry Pioneers in a listless affair which proceeded according to schedule with the Green Hornets coming out on the long end of a 46 to 35 tally.

The highly-touted Brown county outfit got off to a slow start in the initial stanza, and could only manage a 12 to 10 lead over the little Pioneer quint at the end of the first eight minutes of play. They began clicking in the second inning and pulled away out in front, with the half-time horn finding them on top by a 30 to 14 count.

Perry Makes Come-Back

Grieve, Perry forward, dropped in three quick buckets as the second half opened to give the underdogs a fresh start, but Stocklos, Mt. Sterling guard, continued to hit with monotonous regularity and the Green Hornets maintained a 10 to 12 point lead throughout the last 16 minutes of play to cop the fracas 46 to 35.

ISD Scared By Dosh

The second game was a thriller, with the third-ranking host school nearly being tipped over by Howard Savoie's Meredosia Indians.

Both sides opened the contest with a display of long passes coupled with some nice fast breaks, although neither could gain a great advantage on the other. The initial canto ended with the Meredosias five holding an 8 to 7 edge over the Wilson coached crew. Harold Nunes was inscribed into the Tiger line-up in the second frame, and the slender forward popped in two fielders, which added to Cecil and Carlstedt's contributions to ward the Spike Wilson cause. Hoffman, c. 0 1 1
Yates, g. 1 4 6
Kwitt, g. 6 5 5

The Meredosias aggregation came back after the rest period and pushed the Westenders into a 20 to 12 lead at the intermission.

Thurlby, Illini Regular Guard, Is Ruled Ineligible

Champaign, Ill., Jan. 25.—(AP)—Title-contender Illinois will be forced to play the last half of its Big Nine basketball schedule of six games without the services of Burdette Thurlby.

Thurlby, a regular guard and an outstanding rebounder, has been ruled scholastically ineligible for failing a history course. The 6 foot 2 inch junior from Kirkland, Ill., will be unable to participate in sports the second semester starting Feb. 7.

He will play against Minnesota here Saturday in the pivotal game of the Big Nine championship race. He also will be eligible to play at Purdue Jan. 31 and at Wisconsin, Feb. 5. He will miss games with Ohio State, Indiana, Michigan, Iowa and two with Northwestern.

Thurlby's position will be filled by either Don Sunderlace, Elsin, Ill., sophomore, or Dick Foley, Paris, Ill., senior.

Flavor A-Plenty In Hot, Hearty Chili Con Carne

MENU

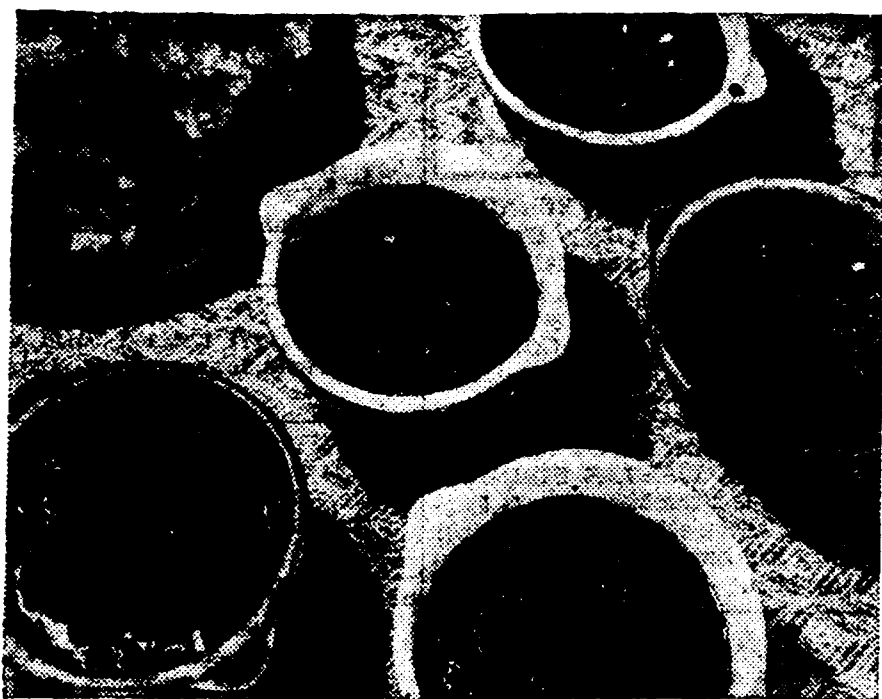

Chili Con Carne
Dill Pickles
Potato Chips
Hot Corn Bread

Carrot and Celery Sticks
Apple Pie

On winter evenings, when you want to stick your spoon in something hot and hearty, chili con carne is just the thing. There's heat, there's just-right seasoning, and what's more, there's meat to keep you satisfied, in this favorite menu from south of the border.

The same thing is true in summer when one's taste tires of all the salads and sandwiches, and longs for something really filling. Again it's chili to the rescue. So chili con carne is really an all-year dish, perfect for "chilli suppers," for cooking outdoors over an open fire, or even for pecking in thermos bottles for box lunches.

Chili is a dish that, once you have mastered the recipe, you can change to suit your tastes. Many people prefer a very high proportion of meat, others want less seasoning or more liquid, some prefer their's with garlic and some without. Any of these changes can be made without upsetting a delicately balanced formula as would be the case with a cake. As a good cook, of course, you would not let the chili leave your kitchen for the table after making these alterations until you have tasted it and made any changes you think necessary.

CHILI FOR CHILLY NIGHTS

Steaming hot bowls of chili—what more can one ask in the line of good living? With plenty of potato chips, crisp vegetables and tart dill pickles to accompany it, chili provides a more-than-satisfying meal. It's ideal for informal parties, as well as one of your family's favorite suppers.

Serving Ideas
Perhaps your family prefers its chili served with crackers or a hot bread, such as corn bread — such hearty foods are completely natural together. Another interesting way to serve it is to "bed" it on something such as rice. Or a favorite in many young crowds is "chili mac"—chili con carne served on or combined with macaroni.

However you serve it, the tartness of dill pickles is a wonderful flavor contrast and crisp vegetable relishes with wedge of strong flavored cheese provide texture interest. Apple pie is the perfect dessert.

Chili Con Carne
1 pound ground beef
1 medium onion
1 tablespoon lard or drippings
2 cups hot water
2 teaspoons chili powder
1 No. 2 can kidney beans
1 cup tomatoes
1 teaspoon salt
1 clove garlic, if desired
Brown meat and chopped onion in lard or drippings until meat is crumbly. Add other ingredients and stir well. Cover and simmer meat until it is done and flavors are blended, about 30 minutes. Serve in bowls. 6 servings.

Chandlerville Girl Honored At Party

Chandlerville—A kitchen shower honoring Mrs. Edward Siltman a recent bride, was given at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Clifford Cook. Twenty-three guests were present.

Games were enjoyed during the evening, after which refreshments were served by the hostesses, Mrs. Joseph Cook, Mrs. William Cook, Mrs. Woodrow Cook and Mrs. Emerson Carpenter.

The guest of honor received a number of gifts.

Two dinner parties were given here, each in observance of birthday anniversaries. Samuel and Robert Boensel were the guests of honor at the party given at the home of Mrs. Maude Deitsch.

Other guests were Mr. and Mrs. William Deitsch and sons of Springfield, Mr. and Mrs. Joe Lintner and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Miles McDonald and sons, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Boensel and family, James Deitsch and son, Samuel, and Harry Deitsch.

meier and honored those having birthdays during January. Present were Mr. and Mrs. Paul H. Abbott, Mr. and Mrs. Jephtha T. Armstrong and Mr. and Mrs. Edward Sarff.

Leftover squares of cornbread can be put to good use if they are split and spread with a mixture of grated yellow cheese, finely minced green pepper, finely grated onion, and chopped green olives; moisten the cheese mixture with a little mayonnaise and broil slowly until lightly browned.

As soon as baked potatoes are ready they should be pricked with a fork or broken open to allow the steam to escape and prevent sog-

Arenzville Club To Help Purchase Hall Equipment

Arenzville — Plans for purchasing equipment for the Legion and Community hall were made by the Arenzville Woman's club at a meeting held with Mrs. Florence Noble. The club recently presented a minstrel show for the purpose of raising funds with which to purchase a sink for the hall. More than enough was raised, so the club voted to use the entire proceeds for buying equipment for the hall.

Mrs. Albert Kolberer and Mrs. M. L. Hiernan were appointed to meet with the committees from the Legion and the Community club for the purpose of determining what equipment is needed.

It was announced that A. C. Hart has donated pictures of the minstrel cast to the club. The club will serve refreshments at the grade school tournament in February. Mrs. William Jones is the chairman of this project, with Mrs. Arthur Klein-schmidt and Mrs. Florence Noble as assistants. Miss Helen Potter and Mrs. Fern Ranson were appointed to take charge of the essay contest which the club will sponsor for senior students.

Mrs. Layne, who was to have shown slides of national parks, was unable to attend because of inclement weather. Mrs. H. C. Johnson had charge of recreation. Refreshments were served by the hostesses, Mrs. Harold Westler, Mrs. Albert Kolberer and Mrs. Florence Noble. Guests were Mrs. Jack Burrus, Mrs. Robert Willey, Helen Kolberer.

Jacksonville Lodge No. 570 A. F. and M. will hold special meeting Wednesday at 6 p. m. for work. XXX.

More Than Thousand Greet Miss Stohr As She Prepares Menu

By MARI KALER

Over a thousand women, all bent on learning something new and useful in the art of food preparation, thronged into the Fox Illinois theatre Tuesday morning for the first session of the Journal Courier Food Festival School of Cookery.

The crowd started forming nearly an hour before the doors opened at eight o'clock. By 8:30 almost all the seats were taken, but women continuing pouring into the theatre till a few minutes after nine.

In the lobby, they were presented the Food Festival recipe book, which contains all the recipes which will be given during the school.

They also received, along with other recipes, a sheet of coupons which give them a chance at winning some of the many prizes offered, and a meat questionnaire which they were asked to fill out.

The recipes were distributed by Walter DeShara and John Harmon of the Journal Courier, Mrs. Cecil Tendick, Miss Catherine Coleman and Arthur McFarland, and Mary Jane Ore and Phyllis Hawk, both employees of the theatre.

Starts Promptly at Nine

The school got underway promptly at nine, with Robert A. Fay, national advertising manager of the Journal Courier, acting as master of ceremonies.

Mr. Fay, after extending a welcome to the crowd, introduced Miss Edalene Stohr, who conducted the school. Miss Stohr is a noted home economist and a member of the National Live Stock and Meat Board, and has been described by Anna Bines, who conducted the school here the past two years, as "the best demonstrator the Board has."

Miss Doris Keefe, who is assisting Miss Stohr in conducting the school, was then introduced. This is the second time Miss Keefe has helped present the school in Jacksonville.

Homemakers Face Difficulties

Miss Stohr spoke of the many difficulties with which the homemakers of today are faced. Number one among these difficulties is the high cost of most foods. In the recipes which will be given at the school, economy will be especially stressed, with emphasis also being placed upon nutritive values and attractive ways to serve food.

The different methods of preparing meat was discussed by Miss Stohr. Speaking of the two types of meat, the tender and the less tender, Miss Stohr said that any meat, properly cooked, will be tender.

Dry heat is the method by which the tender cuts are cooked, while the less tender cuts are cooked with moisture. "Low temperature," stated Miss Stohr, "is the most important factor in each method." A low temperature will make the meat tender, by retaining much of the natural juices. This will also limit shrinkage, thereby yielding more meat.

The two varieties of pork chops were pointed out by Miss Stohr in her first demonstration, Spanish pork chops. The rib chops, which were used by Miss Stohr, have the meat all to one side of the bone, while the loin chop has meat on each side. Miss Stohr recommended using thicker chops to avoid shrinkage. She also recommended that no salt be added until after the chops were browned.

Money-Saving Advice

A money-saving tip was presented by Miss Stohr in her next demonstration, the ever-popular Swiss steak. Miss Stohr suggested buying chuck steak, which is a shoulder cut, rather than round steak, which is cut from the hind quarter and is more expensive.

A three-layer banana cake was next prepared by Miss Stohr. In the preparation, Miss Stohr reminded the audience of the importance of thoroughly creaming the ingredients. She warned overbeating, which often produced holes or tunnels in the finished cake.

The bananas used for this recipe were ripe, because as Miss Stohr pointed out, they mash much better. Green bananas may be used in cooking, she said, but should never be eaten uncooked because they interfere with digestion.

Recognize Sophomores At M'Murray Service

The first chapel service of the new semester at MacMurray College, held Tuesday morning, was devoted to recognition of the sophomore class. Following the academic procession of faculty, the sophomores entered and with their adviser Dean Marjorie Cunningham, sang the class hymn. President McClelland recognized the class and made the address.

"Education," Dr. McClelland told the students, "is first, acquisition of knowledge and discipline of the mind, and second, acquisition of culture and discipline of the spirit."

In the United States, he observed, we have a blind faith in mass higher education, especially vocational training. But this mass education is handicapped by too many students and insufficient teachers. It is in the smaller college that the values of higher education can be acquired, the speaker asserted.

But he stressed the fact that these values, morals and culture, must be acquired; that discipline means self-discipline reached by the hard path of individual effort.

"It is natural," the speaker continued, "to want the easy way, but the reward is the view at the top of the mountain—the feeling of exultation, the thrill of a trained mind."

Music for the service was furnished by the College choir, with Carmen Covey of Jacksonville at the organ and Sarah Rhodes of Peru, Indiana, singing a solo.
